SHRI Consultant was very willing to share his wealth of past experiences and knowledge in HR and operations. Before the start of the project, the consultant met up with key staff to understand more about the company's business – its mission and vision; its operations and challenges. He adopted the process to identify the 4 key modules of HR framework, namely employment practices and policies; performance management; rewards and benefits; learning and development. We would strongly recommend SHRI Consultant to other firms for HR consultancy work in view of the expertise in these areas.
